

UNIVERSITY OF
SOUTH CAROLINA

SUMTER

Faculty Scholarship

2012-2013

The faculty of the University of South Carolina Sumter is a community of scholars. By their constant efforts to challenge both the limits of their disciplines and themselves, our faculty members advance not only human knowledge but the mission of the University itself. The event today is meant to showcase our faculty scholars and express an appreciation for all they have accomplished this past year.

The information contained in this small booklet gives but a sample of the enormous amount of research and productive scholarly activity that our faculty members undertake each year. Even still, the amount and the range of activity catalogued in these pages are impressive. The University of South Carolina Sumter is fortunate to have a faculty composed of such fine scholars and is very proud of all the work they do.

Every attempt has been made to make the information contained in these pages as complete and accurate as possible. As this is the inaugural year of what hopefully will become an annual event, this booklet may contain unintended omissions or errors. These are deeply regretted. The period covered by this catalogue is from March 1, 2012-February 28, 2013—aligning with the faculty annual review period. Many faculty members listed in these pages, as well as others who are not, had publication, grant, and/or presentation proposals pending at the end of this period. These do not appear here but, if successful, will appear in next year's catalogue. Our goal is to give as true and complete account as possible of the scholarly contributions of each our faculty scholars.
